the school

there once was a           Noun           names Dana who went to a very           Adjective                     Noun          . there were so many           Noun           at the           Noun           that when they           Verb - Past Tense           together they were about the size of a           Adjective           whale. Dana felt very           Adjective           in the school so she elided she would           Verb - Base Form           very far away to a           Adjective                     Adjective           castle in the sky. there she would play with a           Adjective           but livable dog named skip.
