The Purchase

Adjective
Verb - Base Form
Noun - Plural
Noun - Plural
Proper Noun
Noun
Noun
Adjective
Adverb
Proper Noun
Noun
Noun
Proper Noun
Noun
Proper Noun
Proper Noun
Verb - Past Tense
Verb - Present Ends In Ing
Proper Noun
Adverb
Proper Noun
Adjective
Noun

24.	Proper Noun	-
25.	Noun
26.	Noun	-
27.	Proper Noun
28.	Exclamation
29.	Noun - Plural

The Purchase

After a long three year project, the server group has finally verb - Base Form the design of a new system for the SDC. The System will serve CTS' Noun - Plural well for their mission critical Noun - Plural . Proper Noun , a CSD manager is now ready to buy the Noun , Noun , implementation services, maintenance, and a expert for three years, Proper Noun thought, there's a WSCA master Noun that we can use to buy the entire $2.6 million Noun ! Proper Noun drafted and fired off the purchase request - "we should have this on our loading dock by the end of the week!" she thought.
received an email from Rebekah, "Hi, I just saw the request you entered for $2.5 million - I seem to have the notes from our consult we had on this. Geez, it's not though - it would've been a year ago or something, right?"Proper Noun euphoric mood instantly dissolved, off the WSCA master contract. Besides, this is an, we promised our largest customer this new solution would be implemented by the end of the month."
Just then, the project team dropped by with a piece of the celebratory Costco that was purchased to celebrate the end of the planning phase - they were on the home stretch! ", you missed the Noun - so, we saved you a giant piece of Noun ." Valerie noticed Kay was looking a little deflated. "What's wrong?exclamation! Don't tell me it's OLS again - it must be OLS and their oppressive standing in the way and risking the entire project, and thus, our whole business

 $@2025 \ \underline{\text{WordBlanks.com}} \cdot \text{All Rights Reserved}.$