Ten Plagues

It is one of the peculiarities of the Passover story that G-d sends ten plagues down on all of the _____ Noun, not just the ones who were in favor of slavery. It is likely that there were a fair number of Egyptians who said, "I see no reason to detain these _____ Adjective slaves any longer than we already have," and who nevertheless found themselves drinking blood instead of water. By the time _____ Noun had hopped through the land, and gnats and flies had stung everything in sight, there were doubtless Egyptians who said, "You know, I would rather do without slaves than have all of these terrible pests around," and who still suffered from pestilence and boils.
