Best Info Session Ever!

Male Student excitedly jumped out of bed: "Today's the day Company will visit the Institute!" He dressed carefully, selecting a tie and socks with printed on them. At school he ran into, who was looking very "I really hope this company talks about," she said. Finally, it was time for the session to begin! The company was hiring people for its office, where the standard work week is hours. They do a lot of advanced modeling using, and some of their datasets have more than records!
Everyone was very interested; even only checked their phone times during the presentation. But the best part was lunch, because the company brought from Restaurant ! Student ate Number Food Item , while Student made sure to give business cards to every presenter. "I wish we could all go work here, and be together forever!" said Student , happily.
