Literacy Works' Tribute to Literacenter

Since Literacy Works began 20 years ago, our staff members have been working out of our home offices. While this has worked for our team, we have often thought about how and it would be if we had a place to come together to work, learn, and And And then along came the Literacenter, making our dream come true! When we first toured this place we said -one word we would have the chance to -verb- with such organizations as Open Books and Working in the Schools. Plus, the amenities are great. We'll have full use of the, along with meeting and event space. And, did you see the scooters? When we need to, we can do it super fast!
The staff at the Literacenter are -adverb, which is our way of saying amazingly helpful. We plan to stick around here until far into the future. By then, we probably will have trained about -really high number- volunteers and professionals to work with adults to improve their literacy skills.
Thank you for -verb
you here.
