Questions in the woods

In the woods there lives some curious animals. One of them finds something very odd. He did not know what it was. "_____Question Word_____ is this?" asks the grizzly bear to the jumpy frog, showing him the odd thing he found. The look at it together for some minutes. "That's a good question!" answers the frog. "Let's go ask our friend the sleeping sloth. He sees many things. But _____Question Word_____ is he?" The grizzly bear and the jumpy frog look here and there, to the left and to the right, behind and below themselves. The sun is going down and the place is getting dark, and the sleepy sloth still cannot be found! "_____Question Word_____ is he?" But just then they hear a sound..."_____Question Word_____ goes there!" Can it be an angry alligator, or a hungry lion? It is a deep, low sound. The bear and the frog don't like both, so the bear asks, "_____Question Word_____ fast can you jump?" and the frog asks, "_____Question Word_____ fast can you run?" The frog jumps onto the bear and the bear climbs up a tree to escape, and they close their eyes counting to one hundred. Soon the sleepy sloth comes by and looks around, here and there, behind and below himself. "_____Question Word_____ was that sound? I wanted to ask my friends, the grizzly bear and the jumpy frog, but _____Question Word_____ did they run away?" On the ground he sees something odd, and he goes to pick it up. "_____Question Word_____ is this? _____Question Word_____ did it come from?" But then the sleepy sloth hears something from above. "Oh no! _____Question Word_____ is that sound? _____Question Word_____ can I escape when I am so sleepy...?"
