The Evil Doll

The evil doll

My mother [...] had a large _____ first name of a movie star _____ last name of a movie star doll when she was little whose _____ body part plural she says followed her, literally. She hated that doll, and it ended up buried somewhere, only to _____ Verb - Base Form when she was much _____ Adjective ends in er. She would not tell me the rest of the story until I begged her, and made me promise not to ask my aunt about it, and to not _____ Verb - Base Form it again after she told me.

She gave the doll to my _____ Animal. Why she did this, I can't imagine. She says that she had convinced herself that she was _____ Verb - Present ends in ING things as a child herself, but seriously?

Anyway, my Repeat Last Animal _____ is playing with the doll one day, when my aunt comes in and finds the doll TALKING to my Repeat Last Animal _____. So, she promptly freaks out, and _____ Verb - Present ends in S the doll away. My uncle buried it, in pieces, as it continued to _____ Verb - Base Form up a _____ Noun.

I asked my aunt about it (against my mom's wishes), and she _____ Adverb said, "I don't want to talk about _____ Noun - Plural

The scary room

My _____ Noun was _____ Verb - Present ends in ING a woman (let's call her Anne) in _____ city name, _____ state name. She lived in an _____ Adjective farm _____ Noun. I don't even know where to begin with this place. Let's bulletpoint it out:

1) The basement looked like the basement in _____ movie. Most of it was cement, except for "the scary room
" which was a mound of _____ Noun - Plural and _____ Noun - Plural. _____ Adjective and scary things would result if anything happened in that room, like having to run wires through it. Anne placed a _____ Adjective piece of _____ Noun in the door frame to keep her animals from getting in there. It's worth noting that while her cat would go into the basement, her extremely _____ Adjective _____ Animal could not be made to go down the steps. That's when you know something's wrong. Anyway, Anne kept her cat's _____ Adjective dish on the top step to the basement. One day, she noticed a few pieces of the cat's _____ Noun laying a couple steps down from the _____ Noun. Thinking nothing of it, she let it _____ Verb - Base Form. The next day, the _____ Noun had moved down a step in the exact same pattern. Next day, same thing. Again and again until _____ Noun
the Repeat Last Noun disappeared. Anne tried not to _____ Verb - Base Form into the basement as a matter of course, but had to soon thereafter to _____ Verb - Base Form laundry. She saw the cat _____ Noun in the same pattern in the scary _____ Noun. Blaaaagh.

2) Before my dad lived with her, she had a Adverb Noun. She would get in bed and Verb - Base Form and then would Verb - Base Form on the t.v. (which was directly across from the bed) and fall asleep. Her Repeat Last Animal would lie on the Noun by her side. One night, she was and her Repeat Last Animal jumped up and started Verb - Present ends in ING at the t.v. Since her Repeat Last Animal was generally Adjective, she thought nothing of it--didn't even look up. But when the Repeat Last Verb - Present ends in ING persisted, she looked at the t.v. The t.v. was off, but there were black and white Noun - Plural on the screen. They kept changing every minute or so--a Noun, a Part of Body, etc. While she had experienced many Adjective things in her house, this freaked her out badly. She called my dad, panicking, and asked what to do. He said, "Verb - Base Form pictures!" She did. I've seen them. That t.v. was most definitely off and there were most definitely Proper Noun - Plural on it. You can bet that when I stayed in their Adjective room for a Event visit, I made sure the t.v. across from my bed was unplugged (not that it would've made a difference, but it made me Verb - Base Form better!), the lights stayed on, and the Noun was over my Part of Body all night.

3) Anne had a ghost travel with her to visit my dad one time. While it wasn't a Adjective ghost or anything, I still find that unbelievably Adjective....so Paranormal Activity-ish.

4) I asked my dad what the scariest thing was that happened to him while Verb - Present ends in ING in that Noun and he said that one day, he was making a Noun in the kitchen (which adjoined to the basement stairs, btw) and felt something hit his _____ Part of Body and then heard it _____ Verb - Base Form to the floor. It was a _____ Noun. "Weird," he thought. He started walking to the _____ Verb - Present ends in ING room and _____ something _____ Verb - Past Tense has _____ Repeat Last Part of Body again. Same. _____ Repeat Last Noun. Not cool, ghost. Not cool.
