this new old house

We bought an old house, my family member and I. He's in charge of the "new" construction - converting the Noun in to the Noun for instance, while I'm on Noun Verb - Present ends in ING duty. The previous owner Adjective EVERY Noun and Noun! Removing it is Noun, but Adjective Adjective. The Adjective - Ends in EST feeling is getting a long or short Noun, similar to your Part of Body when you're peeling from a sunburn. I don't know about you but I kinda make a game of peeling, on the hunt for the same long or short piece before it rips.

Under a corner section of Noun in every room is a person's name and a date. Curiosity got the best of me one time of day when I Googled one of the names and discovered the person was actually a Verb - Present ends in ING person, the same verbing date matching the date under the wallpaper! The next day, I made a Noun of all the names and dates. Sure enough each name was for a same verbing person with dates to match. We notified the group of people who adverb ending in ly sent out the Adjective Noun team.

I overheard one official person say "yup, it's famous person." same famous person? What's same famous person?

"Ma'am, where is the Noun you Verb - Past Tense from the Noun - Plural already? This isn't Noun you were Verb - Present ends in ING."
