Kim and Chauncey's Wedding

It was a/an Adjective afternoon at Chattooga Belle Farm when Kim and Chauncey exchanged Noun - Plural and were joined in holy matrimony. The ceremony was attended by close personal People and People. From the moment that Song began playing, it was clear that this was a storybook union of two Noun - Plural. Kim walked down the aisle in a/an Adjective gown and all Chauncey could do was look on and try to hold back tears of Emotion. A few guests gasped when Kim nearly tripped on a Noun, but luckily Wedding Party Member swooped in and caught her. When the adjective couple finally said "I do", the crowd erupted with cheers of Emotion.

At the reception, the couple made their entrance to the sweet sounds of Musician or Band. A/an Adjective feast of Food and Food was served to the guests. The open bar was a big hit, but after Wedding Party Member drank his/her Number beer and shouted out Famous Movie Line while swinging their Article of Clothing above their head, the party really got started.

Eventually it was time to see off the Adjective couple. They shook Parts of Body with everyone and hopped into their car, which had been decorated with Noun - Plural and Noun - Plural tied to the bumper. Everyone waved goodbye and shouted Exclamation as they drove off to begin their new life together.
