A Holiday With The Swymers

The holidays are a special time of year where families gather to share good food and each other's Noun.

The Swymer family has many traditions and fun Noun - Plural we do to celebrate. A typical Swymer holiday begins with Uncle Tom making a Adjective seasonal Noun. When Aunt Sue and Aunt

Ruth start Verb - Present ends in ING loudly, we know it's time for dinner. Grampy usually gives a Noun about the holiday and leads us in a Noun. While we all eat, laugh and exchange gifts, we can normally count on Uncle First Name of a Person to make some inappropriate comment. Once dessert is demolished, Grampy has told us the same story for the Number time, and the sun begins to set, we all go our separate ways. We'll look back on this day fondly, continue to laugh at Noun - Plural made and look forward to the next Noun.
