THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION WAS A BATTLE BETWEEN THE AMERICANS AND BRITISH. THE BRITISH WAS VERY Proper Noun - Plural AND THE AMERICANS NOT SO MUCH. BOTH SIDES OF THE WAR HAD GREAT Proper Noun. THE AMERICANS HAD RECENTLY MADE THEIR CONTINENTAL ARMY AND ELECTED GEORGE WASHINGTON AS Noun. AFTER THEY CREATED THIS ARMY MEN BEGAN TO ENLIST FOR ONLY ONE Year. THE BRITISH HAD THE Adjective ARMY AT THE TIME AND AMERICA HAD JUST CREATED THEIRS. THE AMERICANS TOOK ONE OF TWO SIDES, THE PATRIOTS WHO SIDED WITH THE AMERICANS OR THE LOYALIST WHO WERE LOYAL TO BRITAIN. THE BRITISH STARTED THEIR ATTACK IN THE NORTHERN COLONIES BUT DID NOT MAKE MUCH Noun SO THEY MOVED SOUTH. IN THE SOUTH BOTH THE BRITISH AND AMERICANS USED Noun TACTICS. IN THE SOUTH THERE WERE A LOT OF FOREST SO THE BRITISH HAD TO CHANGE THEIR BATTLE TACTICS BECAUSE THEY WERE ONLY TRAINED TO FIGHT ON AN Adjective FIELD. MOVING SOUTH WAS A Adjective IDEA WHICH GAVE THE PATRIOTS AN ADVANTAGE. THE BRITISH MADE A MISTAKE AND BECAME CORNERED SO WHEN GEORGE WASHINGTON COUGHT IT HE ACTED QUICK. THE AMERICANS CORNERED THEM WITH HELP FROM THE FRENCH TO WIN THE WAR.
