The Haunted House

The Haunted House

This is the last thing I am going to tell you about this father for today. If you want to hear more, you will have to _____Verb - Base Form_____ back in another _____Length of time such as week month or year_____. You might like to _____Verb - Base Form_____ more about the _____Family member_____ or _____Family member plural_____! They are very _____Adjective_____ people.

But for now, I will just tell you this: the boys' dad had a verrrrry _____Adjective_____ father himself--the boys' _____Family member_____. Dad told the boys great stories about their _____Same family member_____. One famous story was about the time Grampa had tamed a _____Animal_____. Naturally, everyone thought this was _____Adjective_____, but Dad insisted it was _____Adjective_____. Then there were the stories of his inventions! Everyone knew, of course, that Grampa had invented the _____sport_____ _____object_____. But that he invented houses? Now that was hard to believe! But the most _____Adjective_____ story of all was about the neighbor whose house was _____Adjective_____. Many years ago a person had _____Verb - Past Tense_____ there, and a _____Noun_____ had haunted the _____object_____ ever since. The boys were not sure this story was _____Adjective_____, but they stayed away from the house. Until one day... when they were feeling very _____Adjective_____ and decided to _____Verb - Base Form_____ into the house.

In the yard, they thought they saw many _____Adjective_____ animals, like _____Animal (plural)_____ and _____Animal (plural)_____ and _____Animal (plural)_____. Inside the house, there was a tall dusty _____object_____ that always read _____time_____ _____of day_____ and never any other time. The boys thought they saw _____plural object_____ in every corner and _____plural object_____ on every wall. As they were making their way through the house in the pitch, pitch dark, they thought they heard a _____Adjective_____ noise above them. They thought they smelled the _____Adjective_____ smell of death. Just as they were about to run out of the house _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____, they saw a _____Adjective_____ figure at the top of the stairs. _____Adverb_____, it descended upon them, reached its long, shadowy _____Part of Body_____ out, and... flicked on the light switch. There before them stood a lady in curlers and a _____article of clothing_____ and she hollered, "You _____Animal (plural)_____ get out of my _____Noun_____ or I'll call the _____profession_____!" This, the boys decided, was every bit as scary as a ghost, and they ran off as fast as _____Animal (plural)_____. Now THEY would have a story to tell their dad in return... but maybe they would wait a few years.
