Knock, Knock?

Verb me Sans and listen well because this is the story of how I met Toriel. I am a sentry in our little Noun and one day I found a giant Noun. It was perfect for knock knock Noun - Plural so that's what I did all day. One day though, I was rapping out the Noun - Plural like usual when suddenly I heard a Adjective voice say, "Who's there?" not wanting to miss out on a good opportunity I decided to go with it. " Noun - Plural." I said, she replied. " Noun - Plural who?" I smirked at what I was going to say next. " Noun - Plural a very bad joke." And she laughed like she hasn't heard a good joke in a Number years, it was great so I kept them coming. So she decided to have a go at it. "knock, knock." she started. I smiled. "Who's Adverb?" I asked. I could feel the Noun in her voice. "Old Noun." "Old Noun who?" "Oh! I didn't know you could yodel!" we both laughed at the joke. Nothing is better than Adjective jokes in a dark forest. I loved the woman. And everyday I went to the door, I found myself walking Adverb - Comparative and Adverb - Comparative until I eventually was Verb - Present Tense to the door. I actually started to loose weight from it! How cool is that!
