

Life of a Literacy Coach

1. Season Of The Year
2. Ordinal Number
3. Noun - Plural
4. Previous Noun- Singular
5. Animal
6. Verb - Present Ends In Ing
7. Adjective
8. Part Of Body
9. Noun
10. Adjective - Ends In Est
11. Way To Send A Message
12. Location
13. Food
14. Number
15. School Subject
16. Book Title
17. Ordinal Number
18. Noun - Plural
19. Adjective

Life of a Literacy Coach

One morning this _____ Season of the year_____, the _____ ordinal number_____, grade teacher called me into her classroom.

She had an important question about one of her _____ Noun - Plural_____. This _____ previous noun- singular_____ had turned in his assignment, and for every answer he had written _____ Animal_____. She asked me if I could do some Verb - Present ends in ING_____ on him to see if he was just _____ Adjective_____, or perhaps he is having trouble with his _____ Part of Body_____. She also asked me to lead a lesson on finding the _____ Noun_____ of a story. I told her I would do my _____ Adjective - Ends in EST_____, and to _____ way to send a message_____ me the details. Later in the day, as I left the _____ Location_____ with my tray of _____ Food_____, another teacher asked me a few questions that didn't make much sense. First, she asked if she could send me _____ Number_____ students after school for a school subject_____ lesson. I told her I had to think about it. Next, she asked if _____ Book Title_____ was an appropriate book for a _____ ordinal number_____ grade reader. I told her I was pretty sure that it wasn't, but it depends on the context. Last, she asked me if she could borrow some _____ Noun - Plural_____ from my library. I told her of course. I have to say, that if all my days as a literacy coach are like this, I will have a very _____ career.

Adjective_____