Lost In The Desert

One Adjective day, name got lost in the desert! The only source of a drinkable liquid was Noun Noun. The worse thing is that the only thing to eat was dead Noun - Plural, killed off by predators. How would Pronoun ever survive! The Noun the Adjective desert got, the more name wanted to ca-lapse and give up. As Pronoun traveled the Adjective, Adjective, and Verb - Present Tense desert Pronoun found some hope. A car was passing Pronoun, Pronoun Verb - Past Tense after the car but it just continued on. As much as Pronoun swung her arms and screamed the car never stopped. Pronoun continued to travel the desert, and soon came up to a Noun! Pronoun Verb - Past Tense and Verb - Past Tense and Verb - Past Tense but the Noun just seemed to get further away. Pronoun finally gave up falling to the Adjective desert sand. Pronoun kept opening and closing Pronoun eyes. The more Pronoun opened them the more Pronoun realized the hotel was a illusion this whole time! With one final open something new came into focus. As the Noun desert disappeared a room started to come into view. Once Pronoun focused her eyes Pronoun was in a hospital bed this whole time! It was all a dream, a dream that was a reality.
