

A creepy day at school (Part 1)

1. Number _____
2. Animal _____

A creepy day at school (Part 1)

This happened when I was _____(I am right now). One very stormy day, I (Sydney or Syd) was at school. It was thundering and lightning but I don't think anyone including me was scared. Every time I am at school, it seems to always be raining. Maybe the school is cursed...been there done that. So I mean it's not really the first time the school has been cursed. But because of it being morning, it was still not almost time for either lunch nor leaving to go home. And when I do, I'm going to watch tv all day. But the next day, everyone was acting so weird... Almost as if they were hypnotized. Their eyes were all yellow like a cat's! Three hours later, an evil laugh filled the room. It sounded like a ??(_____)! I'm pretty good at figuring things like noises and mysteries and other happenings out, but this may have just been a clever joke from a thoughtless person who had no idea what a "small joke" was. I could pretty much tell everyone around me was getting creeped out because they were all staring into space with a blank expression on their faces.