Anointing of the Sick

The Anointing of the Sick is a           Noun           of           Proper Noun           and celebrates God's healing love. It is administered to people who need           Adjective           and           Adjective           strength during times of serious           Noun          . It is also referred to as the Last           Noun - Plural          , as it is often the last sacrament to be taken           Preposition or subordinating conjunction           death. It can be           Verb - Past Participle           by any baptised           Noun           who is very sick or           Adjective           and on the brink of death. The Anointing is, therefore a source of           Noun           for both the body and the soul. This sacrament should be approached in a spirit of great           Noun          . We must believe in Christ's healing love and reaffirm that nothing will           Verb           us from that           Noun          .
