Commencement Speech

My fellow _____, we only arrived here four _____ years ago, and now it's already time to _____. How did it all go so _____? It seems like only yesterday that we were _____ little freshmen _____ with the locks on our lockers, trying to figure out where our next class was, and _____ generally _____ to all the upper classmen. Now we are the _____, the seniors who stand here ready to _____ and move forward in the world. Yet at this _____ moment, we can't help _____ back.

How do we measure the _____ we've spent in high school? In the beginning, we _____ it in class periods, counting down the day to _____ freedom. As the days and _____ passed, we measured it in _____, and later in years as we _____ from being those _____ freshmen, to becoming _____ sophomores who thought they had it all figured out. By the time we reached our _____ year, we were _____ that we were prepared to take over for the _____ seniors, and we couldn't wait to "_____ the school."

And now here we _____. Our rule is over, and it's up to the next _____ to step into our _____ and take over. I know that as I look out at all of you, I will _____ my time here in a much _____ way. I will _____ it in all the friendships I've _____ these last _____ years. Some were pretty _____ and others were much closer, but I'll remember each one _____, as I'm sure you all will, too. And when many of our high school _____ begin to fade, that's how we'll _____ measure the time we spent here, not in periods or semesters or _____, but in the _____ that we made and the times we _____ together.

Congratulations my fellow _____ of the class of _____. Wherever we go and whatever we do, may we always be _____ when we meet again.
