Friends, welcome. Thank you for being here. We have been _____ Verb - Past Tense here to share this special day with _____ person one and _____ person two. _____ celebrity said 'love is a string of coincidences that gather significance and become miracles.' _____ person two and _____ person one don't know why _____ celebrity blessed them to meet each other and to fall in love, but _____ celebrity did bless them.

_____ Noun is that blessed _____ Noun wherein two equals 'join in their strength,' _____ Verb - Present ends _____ in ING a partnership in which 'there is none called the least, or the greatest.'

_____ person one and _____ person two would like to thank their parents for their love and support. They would also like to _____ Verb - Base Form all of you for what you've meant to them throughout their lives. They are grateful you're here. They are what they are "because of who we all are."

Today, we _____ Verb - Base Form with them as they embark on this new part of their journey together. Life's journey is dynamic; it is a _____ Noun 'of becoming.' While life is often _____ Verb - Present ends in ING, with love we can 'gladden the hearts of those who are traveling the often _____ Adjective journey with us." Because we have love, 'life, even amidst pain and" struggle, becomes beautiful. As the late, great _____ celebrity told us, 'It's amazing what you can do with a little love in your _____ Noun.'

like to talk about love. The website page on love has almost as many words as all the Gospels combined.

There are more than 10,000 Repeat Last website articles with 'love' in the title. It seems that 'some people wanna fill the world with silly love Noun - Plural and other lovey-dovey-ness. website there's nothing wrong with that, so we're gonna have some readings on Noun.

celebrity, 'Love seeketh not ...'

Serving each other is integral to love. 'Love is mutually feeding each other, not one Adverb living on another.' Love calls us to abandon "the scales that obscure our vision," Noun - Plural of selfishness that obscure 'our Adjective humanity.' Love rejects "the notion that we're ranked rather than linked.' Love says, 'I'll walk with you.' Love does not keep score and demand, "Pay me that thou owest." Rather it invites us to say, 'Please tell me how I can love you better.' The love between person two and person one will continue to grow as they care for each other.

celebrity, 'If I can stop one ...'

As we 'look at others with the eyes of compassion,' we shall not live in vain, but shall be inspired to 'strengthen the Adjective hands, and make firm the feeble knees.' As person one and person two strive to comfort each other amid the difficulties of life -- and as we all so strive--life will become so much better.

Marriage Verb - Present ends in S a couple 'so they are no longer two, but one.' The partners are on the same Noun,

'for in love there are no penalties and no payments, and what is given is indistinguishable from what is received.'

The partners like each other, but Noun calls for more than mere liking, more than simply people who find each other's attributes pleasing--after all, in marriage, Noun - Plural pledge to stick with each other for better or for worse, in sickness and in health. Throughout the changes that life Verb - Present ends in S, even 'when old age and Noun - Plural cover' them, person two and person one are to remain true to each other.

celebrity, 'Sonnet XIV'

Love 'is like a Adjective tree; it needs continuous nurturing.' May person one and person two (and all of us) ever learn to love better.

celebrity writes about the moment she came to understand love: 'The Adjective truth burst upon my mind--I felt that there were invisible lines stretched between my spirit and the Noun - Plural of others.'

S and person one are grateful to feel these connections, both with each other and with all of you.

person one and person two, you are about to make some important commitments to each other.

You will vow to be each other's companion and constant friend, each other's ?zer kenegdo. You will

Verb - Base Form to share life together, to be a team, to care for each other, to support each other, to be faithful to each other, to be there for each other

This is a great day. But it is not an end. celebrity notes, 'I have discovered the secret that after climbing a great Noun, one only finds that there are many more Noun - Plural to climb. I have taken a moment here to rest, to steal a view of the glorious Noun that surrounds me, to look back on the distance I have come. But my Noun is not yet ended.'

Today we celebrate this Adjective vista, but there is much more to come. We are excited to see person one and S take this step, and we are excited for what the future holds for them. person two and person one, I give you--and all of us--an injunction attributed to Mother Teresa. It is a demanding challenge, but Verb - Present ends in ING for it will enrich our lives: 'Spread Noun everywhere you go . Let no one ever come to you without leaving better and happier.'

And now, person one and person two, 'I Verb - Base Form you united by the ties of marriage.' 'May God bless this Noun that it may be a sign of compassion, a seal of happiness here and hereafter,' 'an ever-fixed Noun that looks on Noun - Plural and is never shaken.' Besos.
