Graduating from Speech

Once there was a Adjective student named Proper Noun who started speech in Adjective grade. After working very hard to say "Noun," the student got to graduate from speech. That meant, instead of leaving class to work on speech, the student stayed in class with friends to Verb. On the last day of speech, Mrs. Lamb threw a party to celebrate the student's hard work. The party was so fun! Everyone ate Noun and Verb - Past Tense! After that day, the student stayed in class with the other Adjective students instead of leaving to work on speech. The student's teacher was happy to have her in class, but one day the student was sad and missed going to speech. The student went to the Adjective speech room and said "Greeting" to Mrs. Lamb. Mrs. Lamb was happy to see the student and thanked her for stopping by the speech room. Then the student went back to class and felt happy.
