

yo mumma

1. Adjective - Ends In Est
-

yo mumma

A Adjective - Ends in EST man from California was in search for his mother, who at the time was an alcoholic . One night she lashed out and left the house in a rage due to her son pouring the wine down the sink. Ever since then the blind man also known as Derek, has been searching for her, and putting up missing posters that his step sister helped him make [because he's blind]. After not finding a trace of her for 3 whole days, he went to the police with his step sister for support and help with describing what she looks like. Later that day the police sent a news report out to the public, and a search party was released.