

The departure

1. Adjective
2. First Name
3. First Name
4. Noun

The departure

It was a rather _____ Adjective and windy day as _____ First name _____ First name made their way down to get an early breakfast of doughnuts and coffee. When out of the blue the wind picked up, and with a loud, "VWOORP!"; a large blue police call box appeared before them. If anything, the boys should have been frightened but, for some reason, they were not. The door to the box opened and out popped ^ a man dressed like a _____ Noun. The boys just watched as he began to peruse them closely. Then, without any notice, the man shouted, "Fantastic!"; the two just stared bewildered as the man began to give them the synopsis of his dilemma. From what they could gather this man was a doctor of sorts, oddly enough he went by the title The Doctor. Even stranger still he beckoned them into his box. Wary of entering the strange Doctors Bo Ethan asked, "; However will we fit?"; With a The Doctor said, "Take a look."; and as Ethan stepped inside he was amazed to see, instead of a phone, a vast room! ^ He jumped out and examined the exterior of the box. This was impossible! The box was so small yet the inside was so great! "This is daft!"; exclaimed Ethan, while the Doctor looking quite pleased with his reaction pushed the two into his box. With diligence the Doctor began to cavort about a console. ^ ^ ^ And after flicking a few switches and pulling a few levers, they were off faster than they had appeared. ^ ;.