The Mystery Package

One Adjective Adjective season-plural day a noun arrived at name-plural Adjective colour mailbox. Here in city, it was quite rare to have a Repeat Last noun come to you. Usually, the post shop will ring you up and say " There's a Repeat Last noun here at Number street waiting for you!" So you would need to verb all the way to the post shop and collect your Repeat Last noun. It costs $Number more for you to send a Repeat Last noun to someone. Anyways, she Adverb verb-ed out to the mailbox with a big grin on her face. She verb-ed up the Repeat Last noun and once she had reached the front door step she Adverb ripped open the Repeat Last noun. Their it was- it was a bouquet of flowers inviting her and her family to celebrity event !
