First Day of school, a rememberance.

You're first day of school is sort of like a Noun. At first, you don't know what to Verb, but once you dig in, you get acquainted to the Noun and learn to Verb it for what it is. Now how do I know that? Well, you see, I once Verb - Past Tense my first day of school. The year was Number, and Noun had just made it's way into the Body part plural of everyone around America. Noun - Plural were in, Proper Noun was just on it's way out. I walked up to my school. It was a big Color Adjective building, large Noun - Plural and even that old fashioned Noun (schools don't have that anymore). My mom Verb - Past Tense me off to start the first grade, but I had never been Adjective like that before. I didn't Verb - Non 3rd Person Singular Present anyone around me, but really, every body was in the same Noun as me. We all Verb - Past Tense into the school, ______ emotion like fearful or angry_____ and scared of what ______ Verb - Past Tense_____ inside. My first grade teacher, Ms. Last Name was an elderly Noun , quite Adjective looking. "Take your seats," she yelled ______, "When I call your name, raise your ______Part of Body ____." Well this is ______ enough! I thought. We eventually got to covering the basics, such as the Noun and numbers 1 through Number _____. Lunch came around, and I had to ______verb _____a seat. I didn't want to ______verb _____alone, and it seemed other kids were just as ______ as I. That's when I met _______ . You know him, I still verb with him all these years later. We sat and verb - Past Tense our Food Plural together. Who'd have known all the Noun we'd get into in the following years... Anyways, after that, the day ______ verb - Past Tense _____ and before I knew it, the clock struck ______, and were on our way home!... Really, school isn't anything to be ______ Emotion like fearful or angry_____ of Sally. It's something everyone has to _______ eventually. And today your day has come. Now come here and give Daddy a Verb.
