What happened

Christmas, Christmas was finally here, everybody's favorite holiday, well at least my favorite holiday. Presents for every good kid, snow for the whole world, it was perfect. The first day it started to snow, i ran out as quickly as i could to play in the snow, i called my friends over to play in the snow with me. We made snowmen, we built forts and a had snow fights, it was awesome and i wish it would of last forever. Well maybe not forever but at least a long period of time. After all my friends went home i was still playing in the snow i went over to a hill looking at how long it went down, it was like a ski resort. I heard someone sliding down the hill, a lot of them, it was a whole group, then i realized who they were, they were the kids from the other neighborhood, every year they would slide down this hill, when they passed me i got ambushed by thousands of _____ Noun _____, it was freezing _____ Adjective _____ so i had to go back home, jerks. The next day i went outside again at the hill, i heard nothing, but how? The kids always come here really early in the morning, i went around the neighborhood, nothing, i even looked at the windows of some kids, blank, empty, nothingness. It was strange it really was. At night me and my family watched a horror movie Christmas themed called "Krampus" He hunts down bad people , then i realized what happened.
