matt and sarah

When Matt met Sarah it was [_____emotion_____] at [_____Number_____] [verb]. They met at [activity] when she walked in way too early for her shift. It wasn't long before the children were picking up that Matt was different around Sarah. They bonded over their sense of humour using puppets.

They began to text each other after work and on weekends. Soon, Matt realised that Sarah was somebody really special and began to work on a way to ask her out.

He asked her out after work one Tuesday morning. They had their first kiss later that week at the movies after watching the Jungle Book.
