

Day 69 on Bill's Blog

1. Noun
2. Noun
3. Noun
4. Verb - Present Tense
5. Adverb - Comparative
6. Adjective
7. Noun
8. Noun
9. Noun
10. Noun
11. Noun
12. Adjective
13. Adjective
14. Noun
15. Determiner
16. Adjective
17. Temperature
18. Adjective
19. Temperature
20. Temperature
21. Verb - Past Tense
22. Verb - Past Tense
23. Verb - Past Tense

- 24. Noun
- 25. Verb - Past Tense
- 26. Verb - Past Tense
- 27. Adjective
- 28. Verb - Past Tense
- 29. Adjective
- 30. Verb
- 31. Noun

Day 69 on Bill's Blog

Yes, today was the first time we had what could be called _____ Noun _____ Noun this season but unfortunately the effect was that the _____ Noun far from _____ Verb - Present Tense did in fact get rather _____ Adverb - Comparative. Yesterday the upper mountain was soft tracked powder and the mid mountain and below were _____ Adjective _____ Noun _____ Noun. The warming conditions today meant that the upper mountain in the direct _____ Noun softened and then as the sun went down reformed as fairly ugly _____ Noun _____ Noun. The sun was not _____ Adjective enough to have much effect on the crust so the conditions as we sit here are _____ Adjective _____ Noun on top and rain crust all the way down. The only exceptions are north facing upper slopes, and Polar Peak which were not sun affected today and so remain firm but taking a nice edge.

There was no new snow over night and the base is now down to under 220 cms which is very _____ Determiner for this time of year and particularly so when you consider the _____ Adjective amount of snow (over 100 cms) which fell last week. It was cold overnight and it was _____ temperature on the way to the hill but warming fast in the _____ Adjective conditions. By the end of the day we had + _____ temperature at the base and even up at the Polar load during the day I noticed it was + _____ temperature. It did take some time for things to start warming up so most of the morning not much _____ Verb - Past Tense even in the direct sun light until just before lunch.

We

went to the Old Side and I spent the morning looping out into Cedar bowl skiing rain crust all the time. There were a number of near loops through Bear Cave Chutes, Cedar Ridge (different ways) and far loops through Snake Ridge and Steep and Deep. There were no tracks out to Snake so the runs were untracked although untracked crust and as such were really tough but fun. All returns (five times) were through Kangaroo which was actually nicely broken up crust and Boomerang which was also broken crust but starting to get sun softened on the skiers left lower down. I did have time for a couple of drops down Boom Ridge which was hard icy crusty bumps but a bit more broken up than before by some light skier traffic.

After a late lunch we went to the New Side and straight up Polar Peak which was firm but skiing ok. We looped Papa Bear, Grand Papa Bear, Crusty and Mama Bear all of which were firm but taking an edge with a bit of silt blown in. The view from the top of the Peak was just stunning, I can't remember a clearer or sunnier day. We dropped through Decline which was crusty and Window Chutes where we got first tracks (again crust in the chute and ice in the chokes) and some great skiing down to the cat track. I guess no one had been dumb enough to try Window Chutes, any time in the last four days.

We then made our big mistake. We _____ Verb - Past Tense up Knot Chutes (that wasn't the mistake) and then _____ Verb - Past Tense across to the top of the Tight Knot and dropped it. An hour or two earlier and we would have had great sun softened _____ Noun but by the time we dropped in it had set up and we _____ Verb - _____ Past Tense the ugliest refrozen crud I have experienced for some time all the way down the Tight Knot. We got down but in no great style but Verb - Past Tense. A Adjective side effect was that when we looped

Surprise Trees next time round it seems easy skiing whereas without the Knot Chute experience we would have said it was ugly and icy - there is always an up side to be Verb - Past Tense.

Last run of course was Skydive which was Adjective just as it has been since Thursday's rain but getting slightly Verb to ski every day, or perhaps we are just getting better at it.

Plenty of time for a few OJ and sodas in the Griz and then back to the house for the first on time Noun in ages - enjoy.