Depressing Story.

Once upon a time, there was a Adjective princess. The princess was Verb - Present Tense, because she was so Adjective, for she had no Noun - Plural. Her mother and father were Adjective, and she lived alone in a Noun, afraid of the Noun - Plural that lived outside of her Noun closet. She sat in the Noun with only a mere Noun, to use as a Noun source, and the Noun - Plural which had Verb - Past Participle her and filled the rest of the closet. Noun at 4:00, a Adjective man with Adjective Noun - Plural, came and opened the closet Noun, just enough to fit his scary Noun in. The Adjective princess was always so Verb - Past Participle of the Adjective man that one Noun, when he came in to Verb her, she Verb - Past Tense from the Noun of his face. All the Adjective man ever wanted was a Noun. Maybe it wasn't the Noun that was Adjective, but it was the Adjective man.
