TO BE OR NOT TO BE.....

To be, or not to be? That is the Noun whether 'tis nobler in the Part of Body to suffer

The slings and Noun of outrageous fortune, Or to take Noun against a Noun of troubles, And, by, opposing, end them? To die, to sleep-- No more--and by a Verb - Base Form to say we end

The heartache and the Number natural shocks that flesh is heir to--'tis a consummation

Devoutly to be Verb - Past Tense! To die, to Verb - Base Form. To sleep, perchance to Verb -
Base Form , Adverb there's the rub,

For in that Noun of death what Noun May come When we have Verb - Past Tense off this Adjective coil,

Must give us pause. There's the respect that makes calamity of so Adjective life.

For who would Verb - Base Form the whips and scorns of time, Th' Adjective wrong, the proud man's Noun, the pangs of despised Noun, the law's delay,

The insolence of office, and the Adjective that patient merit of Noun unworthy takes,

When he himself might his quietus make with a bare Noun? Who would fardels bear?

To Verb - Base Form and Verb - Base Form under a Adjective life, but that the dread of something after death,

The undiscovered Noun from whose bourn No traveler returns, puzzles the will makes us rather bear those ills we have than Verb - Base Form to others that we know not of?

Thus conscience does make Noun - Plural of us all, and thus the native hue of Noun

Is Shakespearean sounding word o'er with the Adjective cast of thought, and enterprises of

Adjective pith and moment with this regard their currents turn awry, and lose the Noun of
