How Nick and Steph Met

Disclaimer, i am a super super shy, _____ Adjective _____, quiet and reserved person, so striking conversation at work with her was out of my jurisdiction! Anywho, i knew this was my one shot to execute my 4 year plan which was: Make first contact with steph, make steph laugh, marry steph. I had already done my research, not creepily i shall add, and knew that she was lebanese...so naturally i brought TWO different types of hummus (nailed it), and, like me, played and loved soccer, so this was the crutch i would lean on to assure i could maintain a lengthy _____ Noun _____. Success. She told me about how she had just won a contest to travel to England to go watch a Manchester Derby match, we talked about our similar youths in soccer and our dads driving all over the country for tournaments and games. We talked for a while, laughing and enjoying each others company. Then we walked to the football game and i sat in front of her. I wore pants and was absolutely on fire in the stands there. The sun was roasting my face, had to get out of there! so dev, me and i forgot who else, walked back to where we tailgated and waited for everyone else to come back from the game. This bummed steph out as she could not admire the back of my head for the rest of the game, obviously.
