The Willoughbys

Once upon a [Noun] there was a family named Willoughby. They had [Number] children. The eldest was named [First Name of a Person].

The middle [Noun] were twins, [person in the room in the room]A. and [person in the room in the room]B. The youngest was [First Name of a Person].

The eldest was quite [Adjective], so when they found a [Noun] on their doorstep he did not shout [exclamation] like his siblings.Both the [Noun - Plural noun] and their [Noun - Plural noun] planned to get rid of each other. But just like in all [Noun] stories, there was a [Adjective] ending.
