In the Woodshop

One Adjective day Tom invited First Name of a Person to help him in his wood shop. How Adjective! Tom was so Emotion! They decided that they were going to make a Noun and some Noun - Plural. Same person had never worked inside the woodshop before, so Tom warned be careful and never Verb - Base Form sharp Noun - Plural. You should also always wear protective Article of clothing. Most importantly don't put your hand in the Noun! Exclamation! With that covered, Tom started discussing his favourite woods. He suggested using Noun and Adjective maple. They make great Noun and are Adjective to use. Although Tom really wanted use his all-time favorite wood: Adverb exotic wood from Location! Maybe next time.

After picking out the best, most Adjective wood, Tom instructed same how to Verb - Base Form and Verb - Base Form. Woodworking was so educational! After only Number hours the project was complete! Strange noise! Now all that was left was to Verb - Base Form the untreated wood. It was a Adjective job, but well worth it. Even though it left the shop smelling like Animal (plural). But that's woodworking! And it's all worth it for such a Adjective product! A job well done!
