kitty goes to liverpool

Roughly two Unit of Time - Plural ago I was talking to my Noun Jacob about the lack of places I'd been outside of London and how I wanted to Verb Base Form that. Coincidentally he was going back to Location for the weekend and asked if I wanted to come. I accepted the invite and two Unit of Time - Plural later jumped on two trains to Liverpool Lime St where he awaited me with a Noun ( didn't get enough train snacks.. rookie mistake..).

We went on to a surprise party for Dan (who he Verb Present ends in S ) to celebrate his album launch earlier that week, startling him with party poppers, Noun Plural and a sea of faces wearing round shaped Noun Plural.

After a bit of a Verb Base Form and a bottle of wine later Jacob, his friend First Name of a Person and I ducked out to go and see Bombay Bicycle Club at the O2 Academy cos Jacob's brother was Verb Present ends in ING for them, and had a brilliant time, such a great Noun! Afterwards we piled in a Vehicle and went back to Dan's to sneak back into the party and continue drinking and Verb Present ends in ING.

The next day I got a full tour of Liverpool starting with the Adjective Ends in EST mushrooms on Noun of my life, ever.. Then it was onto to the Picton Reading Room, Vehicle the smallest noise reverbs through the room loud and crystal clear. I was dared to Verb Base Form a Noun closed, which in that particular room was deafening.. The Adjective old lady in one of the photos was very unimpressed..

the last day I went to Liverpool's own Central Perk (although sadly it was closing when I got there!), walked along the waterfront and went to the Tate before finishing the day getting pizza and a Noun to celebrate Event.

After copious cafes, sight-seeing and hanging out with the Adjective cats of Liverpool I had to head home to London as Jacob and the boys Verb Past Tense the beginning of their Noun. I had such great time though, and it felt really good to cross another place off my list, lot's of Animal (plural) gave me a hard time when I said I was going to Liverpool, but I had an absolute blast.
