Aesop's Frog and Ox

An Noun came down to a reedy pool to drink. As he splashed Adverb into the water, he crushed a young into the mud.
The Frog soon missed the little one and asked his brothers and sisters what had become of him.
with one of his huge!"
", was he!" said the old Frog, puffing herself up. "Was he as big as this?"
"Oh, much bigger!" they cried.
The Frog puffed up still more.
"He could not have been bigger than this," she said. But the little Noun Plural all declared that the monster was much, much bigger and the old Frog kept herself out more and more until, all at once, she burst.
