Alle: The New Graduate

There once was a recent high school graduate named Alle, who was ready for a Adjective adventure. So she packed her Noun Plural and headed for Proper Noun. It took Noun Plural to get there. In order to pass the time, she brought Noun Plural, Amount of Time, and Noun Plural. Alle took a detour to Proper Noun to see a Noun. It took some time, but it was Adjective. Once she was back on the road, everything seemed to be on schedule. Suddenly, Alle was Verb Past Tense by a Noun! She had been too busy Verb Present ends in ING to realize that a Adjective Noun had Verb Past Tense! Luckily, she had lots of Noun Plural, and was able to continue Verb Present ends in ING. After 5 Amount of Time, she finally arrived at Proper Noun! It had been a Adjective journey. She was looking forward to Verb Present ends in ING, Verb Present ends in ING, and Verb Present ends in ING now that she was finally there.
