

Hogan

1. Noun
2. Adjective
3. Occupation
4. Adjective
5. Noun
6. Adjective Ends In Est
7. Adjective
8. Adjective
9. Full Name Of A Person
10. Location
11. Animal
12. Noun
13. Adverb
14. Verb Present Ends In Ing
15. Noun Plural
16. Noun Plural
17. Adverb
18. Verb Present Ends In Ing
19. Noun
20. Verb Present Ends In Ing
21. Noun Plural
22. Noun
23. Noun

- 24. Verb Present Ends In Ing
- 25. Pronoun
- 26. Part Of Body
- 27. Noun
- 28. Adjective
- 29. Part Of Body

Hogan

Terry Gene Bollea, born August 11, 1953, better known by his ring name _____ Noun Hogan, is an American _____ Adjective professional wrestler, _____ occupation, television personality, entrepreneur and _____ Adjective _____ Noun. Hogan is regarded by many as the _____ Adjective Ends in EST professional wrestler of all time; according to IGN, he is "the most recognized wrestling star worldwide and the most _____ Adjective wrestler of the 1980s. On January 23, Hogan won his first WWF World Heavyweight Championship, pinning The _____ Adjective Sheik (who had _____ Full Name of a Person in his _____ Location) in Madison Square Garden. The storyline accompanying the victory was that Hogan was a "last minute" replacement for the Sheik's original opponent Bob Backlund, and became the champion by way of being the first man to escape the _____ Animal _____ Noun (the Iron Sheik's finishing move). I _____ Adverb after the title win, commentator Gorilla Monsoon proclaimed: "Hulkamania is here!". Hogan frequently referred to his fans as "Hulkamaniacs" in his interviews and introduced his three "demandments": _____ Verb Present ends in ING, saying _____ Noun Plural, and eating _____ Noun Plural. Hogan's ring gear developed a characteristic yellow-and-red color scheme; his ring entrances involved him _____ Adverb _____ Verb Present ends in ING his _____ Noun off his body, _____ Verb Present ends in ING, and listening for audience cheers in an exaggerated manner. The majority of Hogan's matches during this time involved him wrestling _____ Noun Plural who had been booked as unstoppable monsters, using a format which became near-routine: Hogan would deliver steady offense, but eventually lose momentum, seemingly nearing defeat. After being hit with his opponent's finishing _____ Noun, he would then experience a sudden second wind, fighting back while "feeding" off the _____ Noun of the audience, becoming impervious to attack - a process described as "Hulking up". His signature maneuvers - _____ Verb Present ends in ING at the opponent (which would later be accompanied by a loud " _____ Pronoun!" from the audience), shaking his _____ Part of Body to scold him, three punches, an Irish _____ Noun, the big boot and running leg drop - would follow and ensure him a victory. That finishing sequence would occasionally change depending on the storyline and opponent; for instance, with " _____ Adjective" wrestlers, the sequence might involve a _____ Part of Body slam.