Such a nice day!

Today I woke up with the _____ Adjective feeling of forgetting something.

As I usually do, I drank my coffee, took my keys, put my badge on and jumped into the car.

Such a beautiful morning outside! The little birds are singing a happy song, the sun is up, and the road is waiting for me.

So I started happily my way to school, all green lights, empty streets. Today is going to be a fantastic day, I said to myself.

The parking lot looks empty, so I parked next to the exit to go home quickly.

The custodian looks shocked and impressed. What are you doing here, Mrs. Carvacho? And that's how I remembered what I forgot: Today is Saturday
