Once upon a time, there was a beautiful Ice princess. She lived on the high Mountains of Canada. She was named after a Italian word, which means "love." Her name was "Dupa." She was sweet and kind and waiting for the ball. She had a nice white dress, with blooming red roses..... but if she knew what was about to happen.....

One day Dupa was looking out her window, watching her dog running through the open grass. She smiled and loved er life and the people who surrounded her. This was about to be the best day of her entire life.

I looked out and gave a big great smile. (ITS HAPPENING!!!!!!) I started to jump on my bed and I wandered what was about to happen All of a sudden a heard a knock on my door and I stopped jumping, "OH NO!"
