Attack of the zombie slugs

Here we are, _____ down _____ highway, _____ for our lives. The zombie slugs are after us.

It all started this morning when we had _____ at the zoo. "Do you want more?" Asked the waitress. We thought she looked _____, but she worked at the zoo. Of course you would make yourself look a little bit like an animal if you worked at the zoo. Right? I mean, she had an odd resemblance to a slug, but we thought it would be _____ to say anything. My friend, Zach, said, "_____!" And so she sort of _____ away without saying anything, as if she'd just bring us some more in a minute. She did bring us some and we _____ it up while she watched us and a little bit of drool dribbled down her _____.

Zach said, "Excuse me, Ma'am, but you're drooling. Would you like to _____ my napkin? Do you want some of our _____?"

The slug lady waitress said, "_____. No!" But her eyes never left us and it seemed to us that as she watched us eat her eyes began _____ out of her head more and more. I looked away feeling _____.

Before

we knew what was going on we were all Adjective. We never even got to see the Animal (plural), or the Animal (plural). We never got to Verb Base Form or ride on the Noun. Those slug zombies had Verb Past Tense us. We woke up with Adjective headaches on the island in the middle of the Adjective pool. Zach was first and he shook me awake. "Come on, First Name of a Person, we've got to get out of here," he whispered. I woke up and put my hands to my Part of Body. " saying!" I said.

"Tell me about it!" Zach agreed. "But tell me later. Let's Verb Base Form fast."

At that point we still didn't know they were slug zombies, but we had an inkling the waitress had something to do with it. The zoo had an eerie Adjective silence about it. As we hustled out we ran into them. A group of Adjective, drooling people all dressed as zoo workers who also looked like slugs somehow. We stopped, Adjective, but as they came Verb Present ends in ING at us we shot out of there.

So, now you see why we are Verb Present ends in ING down the highway with our Part of Body in the air, Verb Present ends in ING for our relative. Somebody help.
