A night with that guy

Tonight's the night. Tonight, I go out with First Name of a Person. Everything about him is perfect. The way his Part of Body Verb Present ends in S when he Verb Present ends in S. How Adjective his Plural part of body are. And... of course, there's his Part of Body.

He showed up at my house at Number PM, and without warning, he put his Part of Body on my Part of Body. He slammed the door closed, and threw me on the Noun. He lowered his Part of Body to my Part of Body, and before I knew it, he had me Verb Present ends in ING. Now, I finally get to see his Part of Body! He slowly took off his Article of clothing and I finally saw his Part of Body in person. It was Adjective! I couldn't believe it. After all this time waiting to see it, and now it's in my hands. I started to Verb Base Form, and he Verb Past Tense in approval. I felt so Emotion, and I started to feel sorry for First Name of a Person, my boyfriend. But when Original First Name Used grabbed my Part of Body and started Verb Base Form, I quickly forgot all about my Adjective Part of Body boyfriend. This man made me Verb Base Form more than anybody else EVER has! After a few Measure of time, he finally Verb Past Tense all over my Part of Body! I couldn't possibly stay awake any longer, so I passed out. When I awoke, I found a slip of paper with a phone number. That was a night that I'll never forget, and it looks like I'll be able to relive it.
