Arthur Theme Song

Every           Noun           when you're

          Verb Present ends in ING           down the           Noun          ,

Everybody that you           Verb Base Form          

Has an           Adjective           point of view.

And I say -           exclamation or silly word          ! (          exclamation or silly word          !)

What a           Adjective           kind of           Noun          

If we could learn to           Verb Base Form           and           Verb Base Form          

And get along with each other.

You gotta           Verb Base Form           to your           Part of Body          ,

          Verb Base Form           to the beat,

          Verb Base Form           to the rhythm,

The rhythm of the           Noun          .

          Verb Base Form           up your           Part of Body          .

          Verb Base Form           up your           Part of Body          .

Get together

And make things better

By           Verb Present ends in ING           together.

It's a Adjective Noun,

And it comes from the Part of Body.

Believe in yourself,

For that's the place to Verb Base Form.

And I say - exclamation or silly word! (exclamation or silly word!)

What a Adjective kind of Noun

If we could learn to Verb Base Form and Verb Base Form

And get along with each other.

exclamation or silly word! What a wonderful kind of Noun. exclamation or silly word!
