Let's Talk Of Graves!

Let's talk of Noun Plural, of worms, and epitaphs.
Make dust our paper and with rainy Noun Plural
Write on the bosom of the earth.
Let's choose executors and talk of wills.
And yet not so, for what can we bequeath
Save our deposed to the ground?
Our Noun Plural, our Noun Plural, and all are First Name of a Person,
And nothing can we call our own but Death
And that small Noun of the barren earth
Which serves as to cover our bones.
For heaven's sake, let us sit upon the ground
And tell sad stories of the Noun of kings,
How some have been, some slain in,
Some haunted by the ghosts they have,
Some by their wives, some killed,
All murdered. For within the hollow crown
That rounds the temples of a king
Keeps Death his Noun , and there the Noun sits, Scoffing

his state and grinning at his pomp,
Allowing him a breath, a little scene
To, be, be, and kill with, noun Plural,
Infusing him with Noun and vain Noun,
As if this which walls about our life
Were brass And humored thus,
Comes at the last, and with a little Bores through his
Cover your, and mock not flesh and blood
With solemn reverence. Throw away respect,
Tradition, form, and duty,
For you have mistook me all this while:
I live with like you, feel,
Taste, need Subjected thus,
How can you say to me, I am a Noun ?
