There truly is nothing like the feeling that you've done something to make someone else's life just a little better.

True, if you encounter a police officer on the _____ Noun _____, you're probably not having a very good day. But most cops know that they can affect the outcome simply based on what they do or how they treat you.

Whether it's by helping you change a tire on the side of the road, showing a little compassion and empathy on a traffic stop or at a crash scene, or helping you see that justice is done if you're a victim of a crime, officers rarely forget that most of us took the job because we wanted to help others. Law enforcement can be an extremely rewarding career.
