Santa is that you?

Last night was Christmas Eve and I thought I heard Santa Clause on my rooftop. While everyone else was

Verb Present ends in ING I heard a loud Sound Effect. I asked Santa is that you? But I was given no reply and I heard more footsteps which does make sense right? Doesn't Santa travel with Number Adjective Animal Plural ? I then saw the man on my roof and he wasn't jolly or Adjective looking; he wasn't accompanied by animals either, rather Number Adjective looking henchmen.

The leader of the pack, presumably Santa, was dressed in all Color, wielding a Tool instead of a _____ sack of Noun Plural as the story goes. Santa is that you? I was shocked as I watched Santa Verb Base Form passed the chimney, wait! isn't he suppose to Verb Base Form _____ down the chimney as Is his trademark entrance.

No instead, with his Repeat Last Tool he and his helpers Verb Past Tense towards the Room in a House window. Santa that's not you I'm calling the cops!!
