Candy's Story

Mad lib

Candy was born in September 1948, the oldest of four children. She lead a very Verb Past Tense life for about 17 months until the arrival of Penny, a Verb Base Form and skinny child who had a bad case of colic which drove everyone crazy. Her parents, sensing early on that she would no doubt turn out to be very high maintenance, as she still is today. They were beside themselves as to the best course of action, but they bided their time, deciding they better wait until she was of marrying age...and then she would be someone else's problem. Oh, what a relief it was! Or was that alka Seltzer?

Back to Candy...she was very kind to Penny, always looking out for her, Verb Present ends in ING her when she was scared of the dark or going with her at night to go to the bathroom... which was a frequent occurrence... as it still is today. However, as evidenced by her facial expression in old photos, she highly Adverb of Penny's penchant for posing nude in photos, which is NOT the case today. Apparently at age 1 or 2 this was inappropriate in Candy's eyes.

Candy was popular at school, especially with the teachers, probably because she was a teacher's pet. She studied hard, achieving excellent grades, winning awards and always soaring to the top of her class.
