

Tales of a Traveler

1. Verb Past Tense
2. Noun
3. Noun
4. Noun
5. Verb Present Ends In Ing
6. Noun
7. Adjective
8. Adjective
9. Adjective
10. Noun
11. Proper Noun
12. Noun
13. Noun Plural
14. Noun
15. Verb Past Tense
16. Verb Past Tense
17. Verb Past Tense
18. Verb Past Tense
19. Verb Past Tense
20. Verb Past Tense
21. Verb Past Tense
22. Verb Past Tense
23. Verb Past Tense

- 24. Verb Past Tense
- 25. Verb Present Ends In Ing
- 26. Verb Present Ends In Ing

Tales of a Traveler

~Start of Transmission~

For a journalist, this has happened far too many times. Here I am, an investigative reporter, only doing his job, getting _____
Verb Past Tense headfirst out of a _____
Noun 10,000 _____
Noun in the air. Just so we are clear, no, I do not have a _____
Noun. Why else would I be worried about _____
Verb Present ends in ING through the air, hurdling to the ground? Well, I'm neither worried nor scared. This has happened before. It all started a few _____ Noun back. I was fresh out of college and far too eager to start what can now only be described as a nightmare. I was _____
Adjective, _____
Adjective, and _____
Adjective. Take your pick of what to call me. I deserve them all and worse.

I always, even as a child, went in search of trouble. I never waited for trouble to come to me. That made me more than a few enemies. One time, I even had someone come at me with a _____
Noun because I exposed their underground black market. This was middle school, in case you were wondering. I was a writer for the school paper and ran a large scoop about the black market during lunch time. You could get anything on it, and none were the wiser.

Anyways, back to the story. Wait, what was I saying? Aha! I was talking about the time I was first thrown out of a plane. I had just run a story on a secret society, G.O.A.T.S. (Grand Order of Annoying, Typical Skeptics), that had the goal of eliminating the state's supply of goat,s because they thought they were controlled by the government. Mediocre, yes, but boring, no. I had a source who was an ex-member help me find some information on them, and that led me to the find of a lifetime. A cult, named, _____
Proper Noun, started to call itself

a religion to get tax-exemption status from the government. They got loads of celebrities to join and then started policies that had members discredit and destroy those who opposed them. They started to infiltrate the _____Noun_____, to further their _____Noun Plural_____ and take over the _____Noun_____. I knew they were very dangerous, but I did not think they were capable of murder. It was by far, the largest cult I ever faced. It was even crazier than G.O.A.T.S., and they were as crazy as I've ever seen.

I started to research them, so then they became as familiar to me as the back of my hand. I then created a false identity for myself and applied to join. I underwent weeks of interrogation, which was standard procedure, and finally, they let me in. I slowly, over the course of years, while still being a journalist, _____Verb Past Tense_____ my way to the very top and became a head executive and had access to everything. I _____Verb Past Tense_____ a flash drive with every file they had on record, and after helping people escape them, leaked every single one of the files and caused Scientology's heads to be imprisoned for crimes against humanity. I was worried about my well-being, and I was right. I _____Verb Past Tense_____ a very good lesson: even if you destroy a secret society, they will always get revenge.

One day sometime later, I was walking to work when I was _____Verb Past Tense_____ by three men in ski masks.

They _____Verb Past Tense_____ me to an unmarked van and brought me to an airport where they had a private plane hidden. I was _____Verb Past Tense_____ in with the cargo, which included a few parachutes, and hid one in the bag they _____Verb Past Tense_____ me in. I very vividly remember them dragging the bag and tossing it out of the door of the plane. After descending for about thirty seconds, I _____Verb Past Tense_____ out of the bag and _____Verb_____

_____Past Tense_____ the parachute. I then _____Verb Past Tense_____ safely to the ground, where I was able to continue my

_____Verb Present ends in ING_____.

Oh, right! I'm still Verb Present ends in ING. I need to end the transmission here. I'll be in for work in the morning. How this will make a great story at parties. See you later! End Transmission.

~End of Transmission~