A Day in the Life of a City Year

For many people, the day to day can be _____Adverb_____ predictable, as an Americorps volunteer with City Year that is far from the _____Noun_____. Every day is different and more exciting than the last. Here's a glimpse at what a day of corps member looks like and what it is that we really do.

5:30 AM: My alarm goes off and I _____Verb Base Form_____ it. At least I try to ignore it. I fall back to sleep.

5:45 AM: My second alarm goes off and I know that it's really time to get out of bed. It's _____Adjective_____ outside of my cozy _____Noun_____ but I know I need to do it. _____Verb Base Form_____, I finally get out of bed.

6:30 AM: Now showered, dressed and half awake I'm ready to start making my way to work. First thing I need: _____Food_____.

6:40 AM: Hello, my beautiful love and only savior at this miserable time of day, _____Proper Noun_____. I go through the drive-thru (they're expecting me and already have my order ready: literal _____Proper Noun_____!)

6:55 AM: I arrive at school and am surrounded by seven other cars. Also filled with half _____Noun_____, wishing it was a little bit later in the morning, hoping the _____Noun_____ is strong enough but still ready to serve humans. It's time to start the day.

7:00 AM: It's time for our readiness check! "I got my shoes tied tight" "I got my shoes tied tight" "Black pants that I like" "Black pants that I like" "Yup in my City Year tee" "Yup in my City Year tee" "Nametag so you know me!" "Nametag so you know me!"

7:20 AM: Now it's time to power greet. The coffee is finally kicking in and so is the excitement that our students are bringing in with them! "Good morning City Year!" yells a tiny, very _____Adjective_____ first grader. by some familiar third-grade faces that also shout their good mornings, later followed by the older kids. Sixth graders _____Verb Present ends in ING_____ for hugs, seventh graders chatting loudly about last nights Instagram live drama, and eighth graders ready to be in high school and asking for _____Food_____ from us as if we'd give it to them.

8:00 AM: Finally we're in class ready to start the day! Math problems on the board and so many _____Noun_____ Plural_____ have already been handed out.

12:05 PM: It's time for lunch, a small break that still involves so many students _____Verb Base Form_____ to our door asking to have lunch with us while also trying to eat the _____Food_____ you meal prepped for the week.

2:40 PM: Our students are dismissed, time for coffee number _____Number_____ of the day and to get some work done for the week.

:15 PM: Works almost done, our teams about to head outside to have some fun in the sun and enjoy some much-needed _____Verb Base Form_____ practice before we take on our middle schoolers next week!

4:45 PM: Final circle is finally here! Rate your day on a scale of 1-5! GO!

5:00 PM: FREEDOM!!!!

So, like most days our lives are _____Adjective_____ and full of fun but also a lot of work. This is the bare bones of it all, so much more goes into this. Welcome to a single day in our world we promise it's a lot more _____Adjective_____ than you think!
