Day in the life of a parent

The alarm went off at _____Number One to twelve_____ sharp. By alarm, I mean my _____Adjective_____ child screaming _____Exclamation_____ at the top of his/her lungs. I _____Verb Past Tense_____ out of bed, threw my hair in a _____hairstyle_____ and put on my _____article of clothing_____. I got the kids dressed and made them _____Food_____ for breakfast (which of course ended up all over the _____Noun_____.)

Next I loaded everyone onto the bike and we listened to _____Song Title_____ the entire way to _____Location_____. Everyone was having fun _____Verb Present ends in ING_____ until little _____First Name of a Person_____ fell and scratched his/her _____Part of Body_____. Nothing a magical _____Noun_____ couldn't fix.. Afterwards we had a snack and then went to run errands.

First we went to the _____Type of store_____ and got _____Noun Plural_____. Then we went to _____Number_____ more places before going home. I'll spare you the details of the chaos that ensued.

We got home just before naptime, but of course the kids did not want to _____Verb Base Form_____. Instead they _____Verb Past Tense_____ while I tried doing the _____household chore_____ . Of course the kids kept _____Verb Present ends in ING_____ up anything I cleaned, so it looked like I got nothing accomplished.

I looked at the clock and couldn't believe it was only _____Number One to twelve_____ o'clock. I called _____First Name of a Person_____ and asked her to pick up dinner and then I put _____TV Show_____ on. When bed time finally arrived and everyone was bathed, I read _____Childrens Book_____ _____Number_____ times and _____Verb Past Tense_____ them goodnight.

_____Exclamation_____ I exclaimed before heading off to tackle _____Number_____ more things before going to bed. At last, I closed my eyes and got a total of _____Number_____ hours of sleep before my child started _____Verb Present ends in ING_____.

Overall, it was just another _____Adjective_____ day in the life of a parent.
