Fairydust Jolie and the Four Snakes

Once upon a _____Noun_____ there was a _____Adjective_____ girl called Fairydust Jolie. She was on the way to see her _____Noun_____ , when she decided to take a short cut through _____Adjective_____ Woods.

It wasn't long before Fairydust got lost. She looked around, but all she could see were _____Noun Plural_____. Nervously, she felt into her _____Noun_____ for her favourite toy, Molly, but Molly was nowhere to be _____Verb Past Tense_____! Fairydust began to _____Verb Base Form_____. She felt sure she had packed Molly. To make matters worse, she was starting to feel _____Adjective_____.

Unexpectedly, she saw a _____Adjective_____ snake dressed in a green _____Noun Plural_____ disappearing into the trees.

"How odd!" thought Fairydust.

For the want of anything better to do, she decided to follow the _____Adjective_____ dressed snake. Perhaps it could tell _____ the way out of the _____Noun_____.

Eventually, Fairydust reached a clearing. She found herself surrounded by houses made from different sorts of _____Noun_____. There was a house made from _____Noun_____, a house made from _____Noun_____, a house made from _____Noun_____, a house made from _____Noun_____ and a house made from _____Noun_____.

Fairydust could feel her tummy _____Verb Present ends in ING_____. Looking at the houses did nothing to ease her _____Noun_____.

"Hello!" she called. "Is anybody there?"

Nobody replied.

Fairydust looked at the roof on the _____Adjective_____ house and wondered if it would be rude to _____Noun_____ somebody else's chimney. Obviously it would be impolite to _____Verb Base Form_____ a whole _____Noun_____, but perhaps it would be considered acceptable to _____Verb Base Form_____ the odd fixture or _____Verb Base Form_____ the odd fitting, in a time of need.

A _____Noun_____ broke through the air, giving Fairydust a _____Noun_____. A witch jumped into the space in front of the houses. She was carrying a cage. In that cage was Molly!

"Molly!" shouted Fairydust. She turned to the witch. "That's my _____Noun_____!"

The witch just _____Verb Past Tense_____.

"Give Molly back!" cried Fairydust.

"Not on your nelly!" said the witch.

"At least let Molly out of that _____Noun_____!"

Before she could reply, four _____Adjective_____ snakes rushed in from a footpath on the other side of the clearing. Fairydust recognised the one in the green _____Noun Plural_____ that she'd seen earlier. The witch seemed to recognise him too.

"Hello _____Adjective_____ Snake," said the witch.

"Good morning." The snake noticed Molly. "Who is this?"

"That's Molly," explained the witch.

"Ooh! Molly would look lovely in my _____Noun_____. Give it to me!" demanded the snake.

The witch shook her head. "Molly is staying with me."

"Um... Excuse me..." Fairydust interrupted. "Molly lives with me! And not in a _____Noun_____!"

_____Adjective_____ Snake ignored her. "Is there nothing you'll trade?" he asked the witch.

The witch thought for a moment, then said, "I do like to be _____Verb Past Tense_____. I'll release him to anybody who can eat a whole _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____."

Big Snake looked at the house made from _____Noun Plural_____ and said, "No problem, I could eat an entire house made from _____Noun Plural_____ if I wanted to."

"That's nothing," said the next snake. "I could eat two _____Noun Plural_____."

"There's no need to show off," said the witch. Just eat one _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____ and I'll let you have Molly."

Fairydust watched, feeling very worried. She didn't want the witch to give Molly to _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____. She didn't think Molly would like living with a _____Adjective_____ snake, away from her house and all her other _____Noun Plural_____.

The other three snakes watched while _____Adjective_____ Snake put on his bib and withdrew a knife and fork from his pocket.

"I'll eat this whole _____Noun_____," said Big Snake. "Just you watch!"

Big Snake pulled off a corner of the _____Adjective_____ door of the _____Noun_____ made from _____Noun Plural_____. He gulped it down smiling, and went back for more.

And more.

And more.

Eventually, _____Adjective_____ Snake started to get _____Adjective_____ - just a little bit _____Adjective_____ at first. But after a few more fork-fulls of _____Noun Plural_____, he grew to the size of a large _____Noun_____ - and he was every bit as round.

"Erm... I don't feel too good," said _____Adjective_____ Snake.

Suddenly, he started to _____Verb Base Form_____. He'd grown so round that he could no longer balance!

"Help!" he cried, as he _____Verb Past Tense_____ off down a slope into the forest.

Big Snake never finished eating the _____Adjective_____ door made from _____Noun Plural_____ and Molly remained trapped in the witch's cage.

_____Adjective_____ Snake stepped up, and approached the house made from _____Noun Plural_____.

"I'll eat this whole house," said Average Snake. "Just you watch!"

Average Snake pulled off a corner of the _____Adjective_____ door of the house made from _____Noun Plural_____. She gulped it down smiling, and went back for more.

And more.

And more.

After a while, Average Snake started to look a little _____Adjective_____. She grew greener...

...and greener.

A _____Noun_____ walked into the clearing. "What's this _____Noun_____ doing here?" he asked.

"I'm not a _____Noun_____, I'm a snake!" said _____Adjective_____ Snake.

"It talks!" exclaimed the _____Noun_____. "Those talking _____Noun Plural_____ are the worst kind. I'd better take it away before somebody gets hurt."

"No! Wait!" cried _____Adjective_____ Snake, as the _____Noun_____ picked her up. But the _____Noun_____ ignored her cries and carried the snake away under his arm.

_____Adjective_____ Snake never finished eating the _____Adjective_____ door made from _____Noun Plural_____ and Molly remained trapped in the witch's cage.

_____Adjective_____ Snake stepped up, and approached the house made from _____Noun Plural_____ .

"I'll eat this whole house," said Little Snake. "Just you watch!"

_____Adjective_____ Snake pulled off a corner of the front door of the house made from _____Noun Plural_____ . He gulped it down smiling, and went back for more.

And more.

And more.

After five or six platefuls, _____Adjective_____ Snake started to _____Verb Base Form_____ _____Adjective_____ on the spot.

He stopped eating _____Noun Plural_____ for a moment, then grabbed another forkful.

But before he could eat it, there came an _____Adjective_____ _____Verb Base Form_____. A bottom burp louder than a _____Noun_____ taking off, propelled _____Adjective_____ Snake into the sky.

"Aggghhhhhh!" cried Little Snake. "I'm scared of _____..."

_____Adjective_____ Snake was never seen again.

_____Adjective_____ Snake never finished _____Verb Present ends in ING_____ the _____Adjective_____ door made from _____Noun Plural_____ and Molly remained trapped in the witch's cage.

_____Adjective_____ Snake stepped up, and approached the house made from _____Noun Plural_____.

"I'll eat this whole house," said Tiny Snake. "Just you watch!"

Tiny Snake pulled off a corner of the front door of the house made from _____Noun Plural_____. She gulped it down smiling, and went back for more.

And more.

And more.

However, on the next mouthful, the _____Noun_____ fell straight out of _____Adjective_____ Snake's mouth. She tried to stuff in another forkful of _____Noun Plural_____, but once again, the _____Noun_____ fell out. There just wasn't enough room left in her _____Noun_____.

"This is just not fair!" declared _____Adjective_____ Snake, and _____Verb Past Tense_____ off into the forest.

_____Adjective_____ Snake never finished eating the _____Adjective_____ door made from _____Noun_____ and Molly remained trapped in the witch's cage.

"That's it," said the witch. "I win. I get to keep Molly."

"Not so fast," said Fairydust. "There is still one _____Adjective_____ door to go. The front door of the house made from _____Noun Plural_____. And I haven't had a turn yet.

"I don't have to give you a turn!" laughed the witch. "My _____Noun_____. My rules."

The _____Noun_____ voice _____Verb Past Tense_____ through the forest. "I think you should give her a chance. It's only fair."

"Fine," said the witch. "But you saw what happened to the _____Proper Noun_____. She won't last long."

"I'll be right back," said Fairydust.

"What?" said the witch. "Where's your sense of _____Noun_____? I thought you wanted Molly back."

Fairydust _____Verb Past Tense_____ the witch and gathered a hefty pile of _____Noun Plural_____. She came back to the clearing and started a small camp _____Noun_____. Carefully, she _____Verb Past Tense_____ off a piece of the door of the house made from _____Noun Plural_____ and toasted it over the fire. Once it had cooked and cooled just a little, she took a bite. She quickly _____Verb Past Tense_____ the whole piece.

Fairydust sat down on a nearby log.

"You fail!" cackled the witch. "You were supposed to eat the whole door."

"I haven't finished," explained Fairydust. "I am just waiting for my _____Noun_____ to go down."

When Fairydust's food had _____Verb Past Tense_____, she broke off another piece of the door made from _____Noun Plural_____. Once more, she toasted her food over the fire and waited for it to cool just a little. She ate it at a _____Adjective_____ pace then waited for it to _____Verb Past Tense_____.

Eventually, after several sittings, Fairydust was down to the final piece of the door made from _____Noun Plural_____. Carefully, she _____Verb Past Tense_____ it and allowed it to cool just a little. She finished her final course. Fairydust had eaten the entire _____Adjective_____ door of the house made from _____Noun Plural_____.
