My favourite drink and how I learned to be happy

Once upon a time there was a huge Food filled with Food and then I got distressed and ran away for a long time until I saw a doctor. Concerned with the Adjective look on my face he gave me A number larger than ten huge pills and said, "Hey, take these and that Adjective look will last for A number larger than ten days and meet me in the back parking lot at Time am."; So I told him "I mean, I guess that could be okay, you seem like a super guy."; Perplexed, I looked at my hand, I had a bunch of Fun color pills in the shape of a circle with a stamp of A celebrity or super hero on them. I took one of them and then I went out and everything looked awesome. I went into a clothes store and rubbed against every thing I could find, it was super cool awesome number one. I eventually took a nap and woke up just in time to meet the doctor again. Turns out he was a Adjective drug dealer and I was now his hooker. We did ecstasy every day forever until I became Other celebrity.
